Medical Billing Certification Means Success!

Certified Medical Claims Professionals are in high demand throughout the healthcare industry. According to HealthcareJobs.org, Medical Billing is one of the fastest growing opportunities in healthcare. Insurance companies and government agencies are spending more time and money researching and controlling claims fraud, abusive practices and medical necessity issues. Because of this most companies and practices are looking for employees who are highly trained in the field. Studies show that Medical Billers are paid accordingly for their skills. The average starting pay for a certified Medical Biller is about $30,000 per year with experienced Medical Billers making well over $50,000 per year. Our CMCP course will take the average student 319 hours (4 to 7 months) to work through to completion.
